IMPACT REPORT 2024–25

2024–2025 was a year of momentum and growth for the Office of Leadership & Civic Engagement (OLCE). The team focused on strengthening programs, expanding civic engagement, and fostering partnerships across campus.

Voter engagement reached new heights, with over 1,500 students participating in Voting 101 and 289 registering to vote. For the first time, civic learning was integrated into academics through a Voting 101 Canvas module adopted by 36 courses.

Leadership development engagement grew by 7% in the Spartan Leadership Challenge. One student reflected their Bronze experience “enhanced my understanding of both my individual and collective impact on the community by highlighting the importance of personal contributions and teamwork in driving positive change.” Signature service events, Spartan Service Day and MLK Day of Service, remained a cornerstone of engagement, drawing over 400 students to connect learning with action through volunteerism, dialogue, and reflection.

OLCE deepened campus partnerships by co-developing the What’s Now What’s Next dialogue series with the Office of Intercultural Engagement and First G, piloting a Creative Activism Workshop with the School of Theatre, facilitating goal-setting for School of Health and Human Sciences students in developing capstone project proposals, and launching the First G Bronze cohort with Housing & Residence Life. Through innovation and collaboration, OLCE continues to prepare students to connect classroom learning with real-world applications as engaged leaders and changemakers.
